

LAUGH WHILE YOU CAN TOUR 2005

WITH

TOM HART
TIM KREIDER
JEN SORENSEN

Since the election it's not even funny anymore.

Maybe not to amateurs. But three of America's most incisive young political cartoonists have made it their job to find the funny side of the Patriot Act, the War on Terror, and the end of American democracy. In slides, animation, and discussion, Tom Hart (Hutch Owen), Tim Kreider (The Pain—When Will It End?), and Jen Sorensen (Slowpoke), retrace our steps through the absurdist landscape of the last four years and look to the even more hilarious desolation ahead. An evening of outrage, catharsis, and laughter. The car present new work and work from their recent

WEDNESDAY MARCH 23

RISD, Providence
Two College Street (401) 454-6100

THURSDAY MARCH 24

Million Year Picnic, Boston
99 Mt. Auburn St (617) 492-6763
Harvard

xxx

FRIDAY MARCH 25

Jim Hanley's Universe, NYC
4 West 33rd Street (212) 268-7088

SATURDAY MARCH 26

Atticus Books, New Haven
1082 Chapel St. (203) 776-4040

SUNDAY MARCH 27

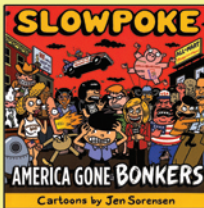

Slideshow, KGB Bar, NYC
85 East 4th St (212) 505-3360

MONDAY MARCH 28

Robin's Book Store, Philadelphia
108 S.13th Street (215) 735-9600

TUESDAY MARCH 29

Warehouse Theater c/o Olssons Book Store, DC
1021 7th Street (202) 783-3933

"Conclusive evidence that it's actually fun to think!" - Barbara Ehrenreich, author of Nickel and Dimed: On (Not) Getting by in America

"Tom Hart's roguish little conscience character makes for a stimulating acid against our base corporate culture." - Time

"Crazy and brilliant and funny enough to proclaim as truths the things the rest of us are too chickenshit to say out loud." - Myla Goldberg, author of Bee Season